

Graduate degrees in Oriental Medicine

- Doctoral and masters programs
- The most comprehensive classical Chinese medicine training in the U.S.

Rooted in the classical texts of Chinese medicine, the MSOM and DSOM curricula have a strong focus on personal and professional cultivation to optimize students' proficiency as practitioners.

Why NUNM?

- Faculty are scholar-practitioners trained in the classical traditions
- Lineage and mentorship-style training
- Emphasis on palpation, perception and awareness skills
- Qigong at mountain and hot springs retreat centers
- Biomedicine integrated into the more expansive framework of CCM
- Clinic interns work all year with a chosen faculty mentor
- Portland, Oregon—sister city of Suzhou, China

Training includes:

- Acupuncture
- Moxibustion
- Herbal Formulations
- Asian Bodywork
- Qigong and Taiji
- Integrative Nutrition

Mission

The College of Classical Chinese Medicine at NUNM is committed to transmitting the art, science and spirit of Chinese medicine to cultivate clinical practitioners rooted in the ancient tradition of the medical scholar.

Contact Admissions to learn more:

503.552.1660 or 877.669.8737 | admissions@nunm.edu

nunm.edu | Portland, Oregon

Follow us:

