David Schleich

NATIONAL COLLEGE OF NATURAL MEDICINE
PRESIDENT

Dr. Schleich has been in the higher education and health fields for more than 30 years. As president of NCNM, he leads North America's first and longest-running college of natural medicine. Based in Portland, NCNM was founded in 1956. The college's School of Classical Chinese Medicine was founded in 1995. Schleich previously was president of the Canadian College of Naturopathic Medicine, where he spent seven years. He was also vice president of academic affairs of Niagara College and president of Truostar Health.

I went into education ...: because I am convinced that learning is the key to a.) taking full responsibility in life, b.) keeping agreements in life, and c.) telling the truth always... It's really about transforming communities and transforming individuals.
